STORMS IN MANY STATES

LOUISVILLE HAS HEAVIEST SNOW IN SIXTEEN YEARS.

Rail Traffic is Demoralized in Several Sections of the Country.

Louisville, Jan. 6.—Snow today covers the ground in parts of Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas, with traces as far south as Shreveport, La. In Knoxville a foot of snow fell, the heaviest in sixteen years. Street car service is interfered with and all trains are late.

Nashville reported a mixture of sleet and snow. Memphis reports eight inches of snow.

Snow in some parts of Kentucky is a foot deep and livestock are reported killed in Tremble county.

At Frankfort, ten inches of snow fell.

At Milton, Ky., on the Ohio River, a gorge broke today damaging a wharf boat and other drafts.

18 BELOW IN KANSAS.

Lowest Temperature in Twelve Years Was Recorded Yesterday.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 6.—Eighteen below zero is the record officially in Kansas today, the lowest temperature in twelve years.

The intense cold wave covered Missouri and reached into Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas. Railroad schedules are demoralized. A shortage of natural gas has caused suffering in thousands of families in Western Missouri, Eastern and Central Kansas. Unprotected cattle are reported dying by the hundreds.

RICHEST WOMAN IN THE WORLD

Mrs. Hetty Green Said to Be Worth $100,000,000.

New York, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Hetty Green, mistress of nearly one hundred millions, celebrating her seventy-fourth birthday recently and at the same time began her forty-fifth year as a business woman, during which time she has accumulated a fortune that is estimated to be the largest controlled by any woman in the world.

When E. H. Harriman died last fall, leaving all of his property to Mrs. Harriman, a report was circulated to the effect that the widow had thereby become the richest woman in the world. Mrs. Harriman's wealth in real and personal property was estimated to amount to between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000. But there is reason to believe that Mr. Harriman's five children, together with his surviving sister and other relatives, had all been substantially provided for in gifts out of hand and trust funds set aside shortly before the death of the financier. Mrs. Harriman's share, therefore is believed not to have exceeded $50,000,000 to $60,000,000, so that in any event it is erroneous to credit her with a fortune in excess of that of Hetty Green, which is estimated to be close to the $100,000,000 mark and may possibly exceed that figure.

It is interesting to note that America possesses not only the richest, but probably the three richest women in the world. Next to Hetty Green comes Mrs. Russell Sage, with a fortune of $85,000,000 and third in line is Mrs. Harriman. Mrs. Frederick Cortland Penfield is credited with a fortune of $60,000,000.

The four women named inherited practically the entire estates of their husbands. Many other American women have survived their millionaire husbands, but in few cases have the widows received the entire estates. Thus Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr., left an estate of $125,000,000, but the widow's portion was only $10,000,000 and a trust fund yielding $50,000 a year. Mrs. Marshall Field, whose husband's estate amounted to $200,000,000, received $2,000,000 as a wedding present in lieu of dower interest. Mrs. O. H. Belmont received the whole of her husband's estate of $5,000,000. Mrs. Morris K. Jesop received a little over half of the $13,000,000 left by her husband.

FIVE HUNDRED CLUB

At the Lyric.

Two rattling good vaudeville numbers are on the Lyric program for the rest of this week. They are Leroy White in an unusually good black face stunt and Ed and Hazel Lucas in a rube comedy sketch from the "Old Homestead."

White has one of the best blackface numbers ever here and it includes a monologue to show music that is one continual scream.

The Lucas's sketch is a high-class rube number with some good dancing and an excellent close. The new song is first-rate. With new pictures every day this is a bill that is worth seeing.

The greatest values ever offered will be found in these new suits for $25, $22 and $20.—Mc

Cecil Kibel, clerk in Santa Fe store rooms at Temple, surrendered to the officers following the shooting.

Kibel reached Brownwood last night from Temple, inquired for Whidden and was directed to the caboose. He knocked on the door and when Whidden answered was told that Kibel had a note for him. As Kibel entered the caboose Whidden struck a match and by his light Kibel commenced firing at Whidden with an automatic revolver, four bullets finding their mark.

Whidden was taken to Temple where he died at one o'clock today.

In his dying statement Whidden declared his assailant got the wrong man and that he scarcely knew him. It is a case of the "unwritten law" and all parties are prominent. Whidden leaves a wife and child. Kibel is unmarried. His father and friends arrived here today and will make his bond.
